1. Workers in the village of Bucium, in the region of Iasi, are paid in accordance with the following wage scale:
  - a. A day worker (male) - 300 old lei plus food and board.
  - b. A day worker (female) - 200 old lei plus food and board.
  - c. A day worker for grape spraying - 400 old lei plus food and board.
  - d. A day worker for grape picking - 150 old lei plus food and board.
2. All wine producers are required to sell their wine to a government-operated organization called MAT for a price per liter varying according to the alcoholic content of the wine. The price was established at 1 old lei for each alcohol degree contained in one liter of wine. Accordingly, a standard liter of wine produced by the peasants would vary in price from 8 to 12 lei per liter. The same wine was then sold by MAT at a price varying from 300 old lei to 400 old lei per liter.
3. A vineyard of 6½ hectares had to pay a tax to the Government of 18,000 old lei in 1951. The owners of vineyards were considered "middle class peasants."
